Privacy and cookie statement Techionista B.V.

1. Techionista respects your privacy
Guaranteeing the privacy of our website visitors is extremely important to us. In our privacy and cookie statement, we will describe which information we collect and how we use this information.

2. Permission to use
By using Techionista's information and services, you agree to our privacy and cookie statement and the terms and conditions we have included herein.

3. Questions
If you would like to receive more information, or if you have questions about Techionista's privacy and cookie statement, contact us by email. Our email address is info@techionista-academy.com.

4. Use of cookies
We at Techionista use cookies. We do this to collect information about pages that are being visited on our website, to track how often users come back, and to see which pages are performing well. We also keep track of what information the browser shares. By clicking on "Agree" you permit us to use cookies. For more information, please read our privacy and cookie statement.

5. What are cookies
*A cookie is a small piece of text sent to your browser by a website you visit. It helps the site remember information about your visit, which can make it easier to visit the site again and make the site more useful to you.

6. Why do we use cookies?
We at Techionista use cookies to improve our website and make our website more user-friendly.

7. Types cookies we use at Techionista

Necessary cookies
The necessary cookies can't be switched off and are mandatory for our website to function properly.

Permanent cookies
Permanent cookies help us to recognize you when you revisit our website. The website can therefore be specially set to your preferences. Even if you have permitted the placement of cookies, we can remember this through a cookie. As a result, you do not have to repeat your preferences every time, so you can save time and make the use of our website more pleasant. You can delete permanent cookies via the settings of your browser.

Analytic cookies
Every time you visit our website a cookie is generated. This cookie indicates whether you have visited our website before. Only on the first visit, a cookie is created. On subsequent visits, the existing cookie is used. We use this cookie for statistical purposes. The following data is collected:
- How often a user visits our website site;
- Which pages a user views;
- From which page the user leaves the website;
- How long a user stays on a page.

Session cookies
With the help of a session cookie, we can see which parts of the website you have viewed during your visit. This allows us to adapt our service and analyze the surfing behavior of our users. These cookies are automatically deleted when you close your web browser.

Google Analytics
On our website, we use Google Analytics. We use this service to keep track of our visitors' behavior on our website. Google may provide this information to third parties. We do not have any influence on this. We have allowed Google to use the obtained analytics information for other Google services.
For more information, we refer you to Google.

Social Media Buttons
On our website, we use social media buttons. These buttons are used to promote or share our website on social media accounts such as Facebook, LinkedIn, and Instagram. These buttons use pieces of codes provided by Facebook/LinkedIn/Instagram, and through this code, cookies are placed. We do not have any influence on this. We refer to the privacy statement of Facebook, LinkedIn, and Instagram for more information.

Unforeseen cookies
We also use YouTube videos and blog posts on our websites. We call this embedded content. Sometimes embedded content uses cookies. We do not have control over these third parties. For more information, go to the privacy statement of Youtube.

8. Do you receive our newsletters?
With permission, Techionista uses your email address, your first and last name to be able to send you one of our newsletters. You can always unsubscribe from our newsletter. Just go to the "unsubscribe" button within the newsletter.

9. Rights with regard to your data
You have the right to request access, correction, or deletion of your personal data. You also have the right to object to the processing of personal data and the right to data portability.*
You can send an email to info@techionista-academy.com with the subject 'Objection to the processing of personal data'. To prevent misuse, we may ask you to identify yourself adequately. Techionista will then respond to your request for inspection or correction within four weeks. In the event of a request for deletion, Techionista will delete the relevant personal data as soon as possible. We will send you a confirmation message after the execution of a request for deletion. If Techionista has not (partially) removed the relevant personal data, Techionista will send the visitor a message in which Techionista will explain why the request could not be (fully) met.

10. Deleting cookies

You can easily delete or block cookies yourself via your own internet browser. For the removal or blocking of cookies, we refer you to your own browser settings.

11. Closing remark

This statement is kept up to date and will be adjusted when rules regarding cookies change or when changes are made to our website.

If you would like to receive more information, have questions, or wish to submit a complaint about Techionista's privacy and cookie statement, you can contact us by email. Our email address is info@techionista-academy.com. You also have the right to submit a complaint to the Dutch Data Protection Authority: Dutch Data Protection Authority: Postbus 93374, 2509 AJ The Hague.
